Preamble

The expanding arena of emerging drugs combined with increased sensitivity to clinical outcomes and healthcare costs are driving the need for alternative drug delivery methods and devices. More and more, the development of drugs and the development of drug delivery technologies are being integrated to optimize the efficacy and cost effectiveness of the therapy.

Application of emerging technologies like supercritical fluid technology, nanotechnology, magnetically assisted drug delivery, iontophoresis, sonophoresis, e.t.c. in targeted drug delivery has been able to achieve desired goals in therapy. Therefore, advancements in pharmaceutical sciences in general and technological aspects in particular need to be updated regularly to provide better healthcare facilities.

To fulfill this objective, we are organizing this conference, where in deliberations would be made by eminent scientists from pharmaceutical industries and academicians actively involved in technological advancements in pharmaceutical drug delivery. This National Conference will also provide a platform for young pharmacy researchers to present their contributions made towards development of new drug delivery systems.
