Places for sightseeing in & around Ahmedabad.

- Gandhi Ashram : This ashram was founded by Mahatma Gandhi and has become a place of pilgrimage. The ashram is set up in most simple manner and is kept in the same tradition as was Gandhiji's living style. It still produces handicraft items and the small room with basic amenities, where the great man stayed has been converted into a small museum depicting important events of his life.

- Teen Darwaza : Triple Gateway is the grand gateway served as a royal entrance to the Royal Square of the Bhadra Fort. It was a trio of massive arches, from where emperor Jehangir and Noor Jehan used to watch the processions from the palace to the Jama Masjid
- Hatheesing Jain Temple : It is built of pure white marble and profusely decorated with rich carvings, dedicated to Dharamnath, the 15th Jina or Jain apostle. This Jain temple has 53 domes with pointed towers. 24 Jain Tirthankaras are pictured in sculpture on the buildings facade.
- Jama Masjid : Situated in the centre of the old city, this congregational mosque was built by Sultan Ahmed Shah in 1423. jama masjid built of yellow sandstone this mosque stands on 260 pillars which support 15 domes at varying elevations. It combines the best of Hindu and Muslim styles of architecture
- Gandhinagar (32 Km) : 32 km from Ahmedabad, lying on the banks of river Sabarmati .It was built in the 1960s after the partition of Bombay state into Maharashtra and Gujarat. The famous Swaminarayan temple is also built in Gandhinagar. The Swaminarayan sect's Akshardham Temple, as well as its extensive parks, draws Indians and foreigners alike to its tree-lined boulevards.
- Lothal (87 km) : 82 kms from Ahmedabad. It is a place of archaeological significance. This ancient city offers an incredible insight into one of the world's oldest urban cultures and the largest civilization of its time-the Indus valley civilization or Harappan culture.
- Nal Sarovar Bird Sanctuary (60 km) : 60 kms. from Ahmedabad It is the delightful bird sanctuary visited by millions of magnificently coloured birds in winter and spring. It harbours over 250 species of wetland birds. Winter migrants from the north including Rosy Pelicans, Flamingoes, White Storks, Brahminy Ducks and Herons visit Nal Sarovar.
- Patan (130) : 130 km from Ahmedabad, situated on the banks of the sacred Saraswati river. Worth visiting for its 100 Jain temples. It is rich in architectural marvels like the 11th century Rani-ki-wav step well and textiles like the Patola silk sarees and Mushroom weaving, originating from the time of royalty.
