

ASME Student Professional Development Conference- 2015 for Asia Pacific

13th to 15th March 2015

Hosted by: B.H. Gardi College of Engineering & Technology, Rajkot

Student Professional Development Conference (SPDC) is an event organized by ASME which provides an opportunity to participate in the design and communication skills competition, as well as professional development seminars where students of all engineering disciplines can meet and hear the industry experts, network and become visible to the industry representatives.

Students can take the benefits of Seminars, Workshops, Guest Lectures, Student Design Competition (SDC) and many other events and activities.

SPDC is an international event, which provides a chance to win over $ 2,000.

The winners will have a chance to contest at ASME International Mechanical Engineering Congress & Exposition (IMECE) at Texas, USA. The visit for the winners will be fully sponsored by ASME.

"Participating in the SPDC broadens your know how, widens the view on the real world faced by engineers and gives the chance for students to couple their theoretical knowledge with practical applications." --- Joseph Tayoun, District J
